CIVIL ACTION NO.

ALABAMA DEPARTMENT OF
CORRECTIONS. COMMISSIONER
JEFFERSON DUNN. WARDEN
WALTER MYERS et al.

defendants

(in their individual capacities)

COMPLAINT UNDER SECTION 42 U.S.C 1983 AND 28 USC SECTION 1331

This is a complaint under § 42 U.S.C. §§ 1983 in accordance to § 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 a lawsuit against the individuals listed below in their individual capacities as follows:

Commissioner Jefferson Dunn is being sued in his individual capacity as being the authority over the Alabama Department of Corrections Wardens.

The commissioners address is located at 301 South Ripley Street in Montgomery Alabama at 36130-1501.

Warden Walter Myers is being sued in his individual capacity as being under the authority of Commissioner Jefferson Dunn and over the Easterling Correctional Facility. Warden Walter Myers address is located at 200 Wallace Dr., in Clio Alabama at 36017 in which inmate Darryle Lee Thomas AIS # 268749 complains of and from.

Darryle Lee Thomas [hereinafter "plaintiff"] is currently serving a twenty year sentence for an offense of § 13A-6-69.1, Alabama Code (1975) here, Easterling Correctional Facility. Plaintiff complains that the named individuals are violating plaintiffs rights ... guaranteed rights of the United States Constitution and the Alabama Constitution (1901) by deliberately exposing plaintiff to the grossly under staffed conditions here at Easterling Correctional Facility in which puts plaintiff "at" and "in" a mental strain being in fear for his Life, Liberty and mental capacity.

STATEMENT OF THE VIOLATION(S)

Commissioner Jefferson Dunn acting under the color of Alabama State Law is violating plaintiffs Constitutional rights under the color of the United States Laws and the Code of ALabama (1975)

Commissioner Jefferson Dunn [herein after "defendant"] is depriving plaintiff of his guaranteed rights found in the 1st, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th and 14th Amendments of the United States Constitution of the right to be safe while being incarcerated in the Alabama Department of "Corrections". For example in Jackson v. Godwin, 400 F.2d 529. 539 (5th Cir. 1968). We remonstrated that once an individual is incarcerated, any further restraints or "deprivations in excess of inherent in the sentence and in the normal structure of prison life should be subject to judicial scrutiny. and we amplified those concerns in Campbell v. Beto, 460 F.2d 765, 768 (5th Cir. 1972) observing that:

whatever may be the outer contours of the prison discipline rule; it is apparent that the courts cannot close their judicial eyes to prison conditions which present a grave and immediate threat to health or physical well being . . . .

 If the deprivation of basic elements of hygiene has consistently been held violative of constitutional guarantees . . . . then certainly practices which result in the deprivation of basic elements of adequate medical treatment; particularly such deprivations as immediately threatens life and limb, would be equally vulnerably. See Campbell v. Beto, Id.

Plaintiffs claim of Constitutionality in the violations of the Civil Rights implemented by the defendant(s) here at Easterling Correctional Facility is very injurious to the mental health of plaintiff. Plaintiff claims the defendants have closed the judicial eyes to the "plaintiff" and the "public" to the reality of the prison conditions in which plaintiff complains that there is a grave and immediate threat here at Easterling Correctional Facility to plaintiffs health . . . . mentally and physically of well being. Plaintiff complains that this grave and immediate threat begins and is not limited to the lack of Alabama Department of Correctional Officers to maintain the acts of violence within the confinement of Easterling Correctional Facility. Inmates are literally climbing fences here to detach the lighting rods and making serious life threatening instruments to pierce the bodies of [any] individual... that may get in the way of their drugs being smuggled in, their sexual partners or their gang affiliate(s) ect., there is no control over, to what extreme these individuals (other inmates) will go to obtain what they seek. Plaintiff complains that Commissioner Jefferson Dunn and Warden Walter Myers [herein after "defendants"] are not concerned at the number of ambulance and life flights that visit this particular camp. I have witness the life flight (helicopter) come to this particular camp at least 3 time within 7 days within the past month or so. The percentage of getting stabbed here at Easterling Correctional Facility is well over 80% chance without notice. Plaintiff complains that this grave and immediate threat unconsciously keeps plaintiff on a defense for life that in reality is a tense situation causing complete stress 24 hours on a daily basis.

Plaintiff is claiming the injuries come from emotional harm that is physically injurious to the plaintiffs mind state. The deprivation of First Amendment rights entitle a plaintiff to judicial relief wholly aside from "any" physical injury he can show, or any mental or emotional injury he may have incurred." Searles v. Bebbler, 251 F.3d 869, 876 (10th Cir. 2001).

Plaintiff exhausted the remedies within Easterling Correctional Facility by requesting to see a mental health doctor through the sick/call procedures. Here the defendants referred plaintiff to Mr. Hampton in which plaintiff assumed Mr. Hampton to be a mental health doctor. Mr. Hampton thereafter talking to plaintiff referred plaintiff to the shift office stating that plaintiff did not have a mental dispute or issue but Mr. Hampton stated that plaintiff had a security dispute or issue. Mr. Hampton told plaintiff to go to the shift office and report what was said during this so called "mental evaluation". Plaintiff did so by complaining to Sergeant Lovejoy ... Sgt. Lovejoy stated that the facility was aware of the removal of lighting rods, the removal of fence material ect. to make knives and other piercing objects that could and has caused bodily harm to inmates. Plaintiff has thereafter requested to see a doctor on the mental strain caused by the tension of everyday living among these violent inmates.

Officials responsible for prison inmates may be held liable under the Eighth Amendment of the United States Constitution for acting with "deliberate indifference" to an inmate's health or welfare when the official knows the inmate faces "a substantial risk of serious harm" and with such knowledge disregards the risk by failing to take reasonable measures to abate it. Farmers v. Brennan, 511 U.S. 825.828 (1994). A constitutional violation occurs only "when a substantial risk of serious harm, of which the official subjectively aware, exists and the official does not 'respond [r]easonably to the risk.' Farmer v. Brennan, 511 U.S. 825. 114 S.Ct. 1970. 1982-83. 128 L.Ed. 2d. 811 (1994) A plaintiff must show that the constitutional violation caused his injuries." Marsh v. Butler County, Al., 268 F.3d 1014.1028 (11th Cir. 2001).

Plaintiff has set forth a cognizable claim of "deliberate indifference to a serious medical need of mental health in which plaintiff shows that through the exhaustion of remedies here ~~to~~ at Easterling Correctional Facility. Plaintiff shows that he is mentally distraught and it causes tension throughout plaintiff's body that will not allow plaintiff to properly function in this overcrowded Facility as far as sleeping, interacting with other inmates, exercising ect. Plaintiff being totally blind in one eye does not began to help in navigating throughout this Facility either. The response plaintiff is receiving from the defendants are not helping the situation here ... they act as if they are not concerned.

In articulating the scope of inmates' right to be free from deliberate indifference. ... the Supreme Court has ... emphasized that not 'every claim by a prisoner that he has not received adequate medical treatment states a violation of the Eight Amendment.' Estelle, 429 U.S. at 105. 97 S.Ct. at 291; Mandel, 888 F.2d at 787. Medical treatment violates the eight amendment [only] when it is 'so grossly incompetent, inadequate, or excessive as to shock the conscience or to be intolerable to fundamental fairness.' Rogers, 792 F.2d at 1058

Here plaintiff is claiming a state of mentally being distraught. Plaintiff complains that each government official whether contracted to Alabama Department of Corrections or employed is acting through the officials own individual actions, has violated the Constitution. Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662. 676. 129 S.Ct. 1937. 1948 (2009).

WHEREFORE the premises considered plaintiff suits under 42 U.S.C. § 1983. plaintiff request to be awarded substantial monetary damages of One Hundred Thousand dollars against the Alabama Department of Correction, Commissioner Jefferson Dunn in his individual capacity, Warden Walter Myers in his individual capacity injunction and declaratory relief. Done this 26th day of September 2017.
